The Cross at Croscombe was named, 'B&B and Guesthouse of the Year' at the prestigious Bristol, Bath and Somerset Tourism Awards. The awards recognise the very best tourism businesses in the region. Businesses that offer visitors an exceptional standard of service and an outstanding and memorable experience.

The awards ceremony took place on 15 November at the Apex Hotel in Bath and was hosted by Laura Rawlings from BBC Radio Bristol and former Bath and England international rugby player, Phil de Glanville. It was a record year for entries with a 30% increase on 2017.

The Cross at Croscombe beat off stiff competition in a highly competitive category. As an award winner, The Cross at Croscombe will go forward to the South West Tourism Excellence Awards.

Terri Chichester, owner of The Cross at Croscombe said, "There are many fantastic, independent B&Bs and guesthouses in Bath, Bristol and Somerset, so to be named the best is a huge honour. I would like to thank everyone who has supported me over the past 4 years. It has been hard work but great fun. I am delighted to play my small part in attracting visitors to this beautiful part of the country."
